BIOGRAPHY

After graduating in Construction Management in 2008, Anthony entered loss adjusting as a specialist building technician. Since 2010, he worked as a loss adjuster in London, primarily focusing on CAR/EAR and Construction Liability, as well as Construction Plant and Machinery.

Anthony has experienced dealing with claims on a variety of construction projects, which includes civil engineering, commercial, residential, education, health, government and energy risks. He has dealt with sizable complex claims from the first instruction to the conclusion.

Anthony commenced working with McLarens in 2018 as a Regional Executive Adjuster, bringing his expertise in Construction & Engineering, adding to the existing presence throughout the region.

Since joining McLarens, Anthony has handled major construction losses, throughout South East Asia, on projects such as power station erection and oil refineries. He has also been involved in Industrial All Risks, Machinery Breakdown and Business Interruption claim's concerning power generation and other major property losses.
