

McLarens appoints Head of Property division and expands the team in Australia.

McLarens, a leading global loss adjusting firm specialising in complex and commercial claims, is pleased to announce Stuart Crofton as head of its property loss adjusting division in Australia, which includes offices in Brisbane, Melbourne, Newcastle, and Sydney.

Accompanying this appointment, Tom Murphy, formerly of Cunningham Lindsey, joins the firm's Brisbane property team as Senior Adjuster and Arjun Masters, previously of FAS Global, joins as Financial Lines Executive Adjuster based in Melbourne.

A specialist adjuster with 22 years' experience, Stuart Crofton's career has spanned London and Sydney, with numerous overseas assignments. He specialises in major and complex property claims and has acted on losses of all classes across a range of industries including manufacturing, industrial, and public sector.

Tom Murphy joins the team with 10 years' experience handling property claims across commercial spectrum and Arjun Masters, with qualifications in accountancy has extensive industry experience in business interruption losses, fidelity guarantee, and tax audit claims.

Martyn Wicht, McLarens' Regional Director, Australia, commented: "We continue to attract an extremely high caliber of industry professionals with the appointment of Tom and Arjun. With the expansion of our property team it is pleasing to have Stuart accept the role of leading the team in Australia. Stuart is a highly respected loss adjuster in Australian and International markets and his appointment is a direct reflection of his achievements."

Chris Panes, Chief Operating Officer Europe, Middle East and Asia Pacific, said "It is highly deserving that Stuart leads our expanding property team in Australia. Stuart joins other Australian practice leaders, George Bejjani, Construction and Natural Resources, and John Cupitt, Marine and Transit to ensure McLarens continues to provide clients with high quality loss adjusting services into the future."
