BIOGRAPHY

Brandon began his career in construction as a general contractor superintendent in both residential and commercial projects, but particularly enjoyed retrofitting public buildings for ADA compliance. His knowledge of buildings and construction led him to begin his adjusting career at a global firm in 1997. After completing Advanced Property School in 2005, he received his Property General Adjuster designation. After joining McLarens in 2014, he was promoted to Executive General Adjuster. As the nominated adjuster for many national accounts, he has gained an extensive background of handling large and complex commercial, industrial, and residential property claims involving risks in both private and public sectors. Brandon is skilled in dispute resolution after serving as an appointed appraiser and in mediation processes throughout his career.
